I believe that this entire lawsuit by the federal government has not been in the interest of americans. They have used our tax money to pursue a company that has been successful. Had Microsoft not been a profitable company our government would not have ever gone after them. I believe that those who have been pushing this law suit at our expense should reimburse the american tax payers. If this could happen to a large company just think what our government could do to small companies. We no longer have free enterprise nor can we establish a competitive business without being penalized. Watchout Americans! Who's Side is our Government on? I love America and I serve in 82nd Airborne in Cambodia during the Viet Nam War for 3 years but I think our government is moving away from having the purpose of upholding and representing the beliefs and interests of its citizens. Thanks and God Bless.
